The University of Minnesota is committed to the policy that all persons shall have equal access to its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, sex, age, marital status, or sexual orientation. This publication is available in alternative formats upon request; call the Institute at 612-626-1077.

Printed on recycled paper with postconsumer waste of 10 percent.
Human-centered technology to enhance safety and mobility

A report of research, education, and technology transfer activities of the Intelligent Transportation Systems Institute at the University of Minnesota for fiscal year 2006–2007

CONTENTS
Message from the Director .................................................2
Overview .............................................................................4
Mission Statement .............................................................4
Financial Report ...............................................................4
Management Structure and Board .................................5
ITS Institute Staff ..............................................................6
Faculty and Research Staff ................................................7
Laboratories and Facilities ...............................................8
  Minnesota Traffic Observatory .......................................8
  HumanFIRST Program ................................................10
  Intelligent Vehicles Lab ................................................12
  NATSRL ........................................................................14
Research ............................................................................16
  Funding Sources ...........................................................16
  Highlighted Projects ......................................................17
  Project Abstracts ...........................................................28
  Publications and Presentations .....................................42
Education ..........................................................................44
Technology Transfer .......................................................48